As a responsible manufacturer of packaging materials, we have been ensuring that all our investments and offerings are having sustainability as our prime focus. We have been working towards providing solutions towards recyclability in the products that we produce. This has prompted us to invest in state of the art water-based coating lines and similar technology. We have taken the lead towards producing completely recyclable paper cups for both hot and cold applications. Our PET plant has been leading our initiative to provide Mono material to ensure complete recyclability in the PCR category.

Collaborations with a few of our customers have enabled us to change the specifications from non-recyclable to recyclable categories. Our team has been relentlessly working towards collaborating with our customers, government bodies and other stakeholders to push for sustainable packaging solutions. We also plan to have an agenda for PIR and PCR to champion the sustainability cause in the region.

Hotpack Eco Profile - 96% of our product range is either environmentally friendly, recyclable or both.

TERMINOLOGIES

Paper basis weight

Paper basis weight is the standard size measured in pounds per 500 sheets or per ream within its category or that basic sheet size.

Gram per Square (g/m²)

It pertains to the mass per unit of area in the metric system. A sheet of paper's grammage is equal to the weight in grams of a one-square-meter-size of that particular type of paper.

$\text{gsm} = \text{weight(grams)} / (\text{Sample length (m)} * \text{Sample Width(m)})$

Gusset

A gusset is an indented fold located on the side or bottom of a paper bag that gives more volume. Adding a gusset on the side and bottom allows the paper bag to expand and stand upright on its own when it is placed on a flat surface.

Food-Grade

A food-grade product is non-toxic and safe for human consumption. In food packaging, it means the materials used in the paper or plastic packaging are qualified to be used as food storage, packaging, and carrying.

Grease resistant

A paper is grease-resistant when it is repellant to grease oil. Most grease-resistant packaging papers apply to fast-food sandwich wraps, deli wraps, and other types of retail food packaging.

Laminated

Laminated packaging consists of laminated film, usually an overlay plastic, aluminium for additional protection. Laminated films add strength and durability to the paper if used for packaging.

Flexo-Printing

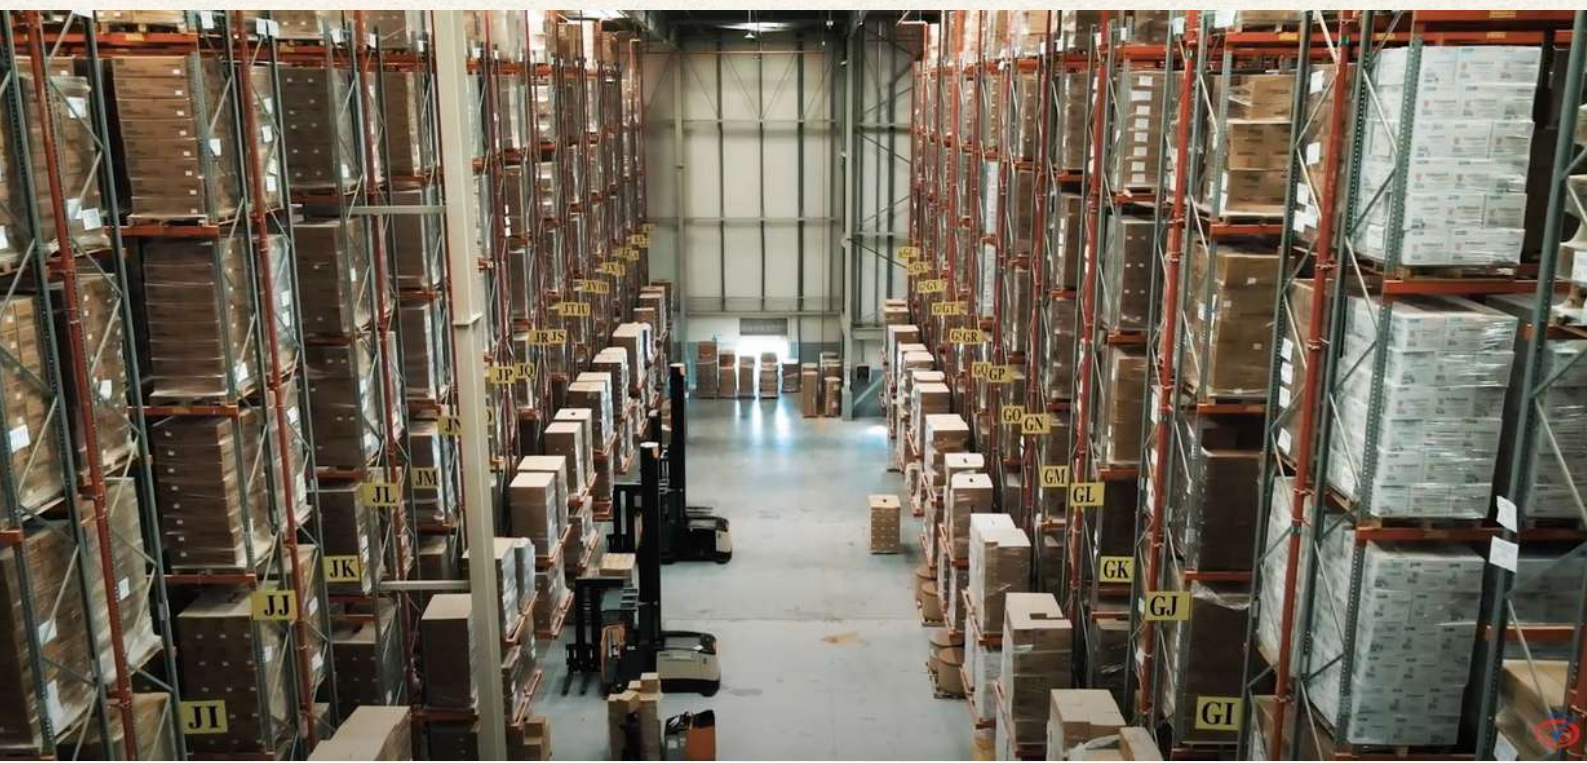

Flexographic or flexo printing is a method in printing that uses flexible printing plates, rotary in-line features, and quick-drying semi-liquid inks. It uses a roll-feed web printing process to print a high volume of labels and packaging for flexible materials like paper, plastics, cellophane, fabric, metallic films, and more.
